Remaining Quantities as of 12/19/19

I have an announcement concerning our poor 35 year old cooler.

Last week it died.....after a manner of speaking. We were forced to throw away about $3,000 worth of cheese because it was above 40 degrees for too long. The cooler is basically on life support now. The refrigerant it uses was banned in 1994 and is no longer made.

We just received a quote on how much it would take to replace the compressor and condensing unit and Jesse and I feel that with cheese/cooler sales being very low it's just not worth buying a new unit.

SOOOOOO we're not going to be offering cheese after what is in stock is gone, see list below.

Kind of sad to think that AP started with my mom selling cheese and now we're getting rid of cheese, but times change and we feel this is the best for the company at this time.
