"In the years I have been an Alison's Pantry representative, I have grown numerous invaluable relationships. I'm proud that I offer people great products at an affordable price in our rural community.

I have used Alison's Pantry products for about 30 years, ever since it was first introduced in the Plateau Valley. At first, I loved the great prices on spices, but it has grown into planning menus and creating dinner ideas. I'm obsessed with showing and sharing meal ideas and products with my customers. We're all eager to avoid the big box stores that are an hour away, and I'm proud of the service I provide and the business that I've grown. Alison's Pantry has been, and continues to be, an incredible blessing for my family. It has created a residual income for me that continues to grow every month. We eat healthier and I get to see people at least once a month that I wouldn't have otherwise!"

Preheat the oven to 375°F. Lightly grease a 12-cup muffin pan with Vegalene or line with paper liners. In a medium bowl, whisk together the flour, poppy seeds, baking powder, and fine sea salt until combined. Set aside. In a large bowl, stir together the sugar and lemon zest. Using your hands, rub the zest into the sugar until it becomes fragrant. Add the eggs, Greek yogurt, vegetable oil, lemon juice, and vanilla extract. Whisk until fully combined. Pour the dry ingredient mixture into the wet ingredient mixture and stir until just combined. Do not overmix. Gently fold in the frozen Wyman's Wild Blueberries. Do not thaw. Divide the batter evenly among the prepared muffin cups. Bake for 18-22 minutes, or until the tops start to turn golden and an inserted toothpick comes out clean or with just a few crumbs. Let muffins cool in the pan for 5 minutes before transferring the muffins to a wire rack to cool completely.
